

Thirty - Three Students Named To Who's Who List

Thirty-three students at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch have been selected to appear in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1965-1966.

Nominees for Who's Who must be classified as either juniors or seniors. Students are elected in part by vote of departments and in smaller part by vote of the faculty at large.

The selection to Who's Who is based primarily on the student's scholarship. His participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, his citizenship and service to the school and his promise of future usefulness are also considered.

Students selected to appear in Who's Who, their classification and home towns are:

Larry Bates, a senior in agriculture from Springfield; Nancy Bivens, a senior in secondary education from Dyersburg; John Burnett, a senior in business administration from Union City; Linda Carlton, a junior in home economics from Crockett Mills; Sharon Carney, a senior in business education from Dresden.

Kenneth Carr, a junior in liberal arts from Martin; Clare Nell Chandler, a senior in home economics from Dresden; Fred Collins, a senior in business administration from Milan; Lane Cowser, a senior in agriculture from Martin.

Polly Beth Crawford, a junior in secondary education from Dresden; Nancy Jo Davis, a senior in elementary education from Paris; Joan Farmer, a junior in elementary education from Dresden.

Margaret Fisher, a senior in home economics from Decaturville; Thomas Gallien, a junior in pre-medicine from Martin; Allen Garverick, a senior in agriculture from Gallien, Ohio; Carol Glisson, a senior in secondary education from Martin.

Uga Grants, a junior in secondary education from Paris; Annette Grissom, a senior in secondary education from Selmer; Homer Kemp, a senior in liberal arts from South Fulton; Jenny Ladd, a junior in liberal arts from Newbern.

Marianne Margrave, a senior in home economics from Gleason; Lillie Morris, a senior in elementary education from Medina; Emily Pyron, a senior in home economics from Memphis; Linda Rogers, a senior in secondary education from Fulton, Kentucky.

David Sammons, a senior in liberal arts from Whiteville; David Small, a senior in secondary education from Gettysburg, New York; Alice Thomas, a senior in business administration from Gadsden; Ross Via, a senior in agriculture from Bells; Sherry Warmath, a senior in home economics from Martin.

Carol Warmbrod, a senior in elementary education from Jackson; Hunter Welles, a junior in pre-medicine from Dresden; Mary Jane Williams, a senior in liberal arts from Martin, and Martha Lee Woods, a senior in secondary education from Henderson.

New Name Chosen For Women's Dorm

Clement Hall will soon be the new name of what has formerly been called the Women's Main Residence Hall.

The U-T Trustees at their November 5 meeting in Knoxville approved the naming of the 448-unit dormitory complex for Governor Frank G. Clement.

The first unit of the residence hall was completed in 1957. The necessity for the building, already under consideration at the time by the U-T administration, was pointed up by the then candidate for governor, Clement, in a campaign speech delivered in Dyersburg. When the first unit was begun, Governor Clement was present for the ground breaking ceremonies.

The second unit of the women's dorm was completed in 1963. The lounge of the older structure served as a connecting link between the two.

Plans will be completed by the U-T administration in the near future to invite Governor Clement to be present at a ceremony to dedicate the facility and name it Clement Hall.

New Housing Plans Passed By Trustees For Two Million

The current building program on campus received a boost November 5 when the trustees firmed up plans for housing amounting to more than $2 million and provided $100,000 to prepare plans for an academic building.

To carry out these plans, the board approved the securing of architects for the preparing of specifications for two dormitories.

One dormitory will house approximately 400 men and is expected to cost around $1,350,000. It will be located on the eastern end of the campus at Hurt and Lovelace Streets, in the vicinity of the old heating plant and the present frame building serving as the basketball dormitory. Work will begin around May 1, 1966, and the facility will be ready for use in the fall of 1967.

The second dormitory approved is one for women and actually is a 264-unit addition to the residence hall completed and occupied at the beginning of fall quarter 1965. It is expected that the addition will cost around $750,000 and construction will begin around May 1, 1966, and be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1967.

Also authorized by the trustees at its Friday meeting was the exploring of how to finance and build additional low-cost student apartments through private financing.

Looking toward meeting demands for more classroom facilities to meet the rapidly rising enrollment, the board approved the selection of McGehee and Nicholson of Memphis as architects for an academic - classroom building probably to include music and fine arts.

As plans for these facilities materialize during the coming months, work continues on a 528-unit men's dormitory on Jeffers Lane to cost slightly in excess of $1.5 million. Also under construction is a student center which exclusive of fixtures will cost approximately $1 million.

Another building to house the library and to cost $1.5 million will be begun in March, 1966. Completion of plans for the library building is scheduled for January 1966, and the facility will be ready for use by May 15, 1967.

Dykes Named Successor To Vice-President Meek

Dr. Paul Meek was given an additional title and his successor who will assume his office in September 1967 was named at the U-T Board of Trustees' meeting in Knoxville Friday.

This is in addition to his present title and function as Vice President of the University of Tennessee. He will no longer be "Vice President in charge of the Martin Branch" but will be Vice President of U-T and Chancellor of the Martin Branch.

Named to succeed Chancellor Meek upon his September 1967 retirement is Dr. Archie R. Dykes who since 1962 has been director of The University of Tennessee-Memphis State University Center for advanced Graduate Study in Education, Memphis. He will join the staff in 1966 and will work with Chancellor Meek during the year before the latter's retirement. Dr. Dykes is 34-years-old.

Dr. Dykes earned his doctorate at U-T with a Ford Foundation Fellowship. He graduated with honors. He also earned the master of arts degree at East Tennessee State University where he did his undergraduate work.

Prior to assuming his duties at the Memphis Center,

Dr. Dykes taught and was principal at Church Hill High School and served as superintendent of Greenville City Schools.

Upon his retirement in 1967, Dr. Meek will have served 33 years as administrator of the Martin Branch. He has seen it grow from a Junior College with less than 100 students to a four-year institution with 2,472 students which grants bachelor of science degrees in agriculture, education, home economics, business administration and liberal arts. A master's degree program in education is planned in the summer of 1966.

In recognition of his service to education and to his church, Lambuth College in 1959 awarded Chancellor Meek the honorary degree of doctor of laws. He earned the master of science and the bachelor of science degrees from U-T Knoxville and did graduate work at Peabody College for Teachers. Prior to coming to UTMB Chancellor Meek served as superintendent of schools in Harlan, Kentucky.

In 1951 when UTMB was made a degree granting institution, Chancellor Meek was named dean, and in 1962 he was elevated to the position of Vice President in Charge of the Martin Branch.

Should We Be In Vietnam

Few people realize the true depth of our stand in Vietnam. We went in small force with the purpose of aiding the Vietnamese in their battle against Communism. We did not realize the great scope of the Vietnam conflict according to Frances Vivian Drake in the article "Why We Are Fighting in Asia," Reader's Digest, October, 1965.

We are in Vietnam to save Southeast Asia and the Pacific from Communist conquest and aggression.

At present, Red China does not present too great a threat in the atomic missile field, but they are progressing. The time draws nearer when they will be able to match us in atomic force and we must not let them gain any more territory than possible.

Several Southeast Asian countries such as Indonesia are inclined toward Communism and are only waiting to find out the results in Vietnam to decide which way they will go.

As each nation and island falls to Communism, that many more are subjected to Communism on their doorstep. This could even lead to the fall of Australia.

Another thought to remember is that thousands of men gave their lives in the Korean Conflict to save the people of that section of the world from aggression by Red China. Can we let all of those lives be wasted by letting the Red Chinese have their way in their latest attempt to take over in Vietnam?

Perhaps if we would read and think about the results of "pulling-out" of Vietnam, some would more readily realize our government's stand.

Piano Recital Friday Night Will Feature Nelson And Neal

Nelson and Neal, the dual piano team, will present a concert on campus tomorrow night.

Nelson and Neal, a two-piano team, will begin their on-campus activities as artist-faculty members with a recital Friday night at 8 p.m. Other activities will include a lecture and a music teachers' workshop on November 16.

Tomorrow night's recital, which will be held in the Music Building, will be open to the general public as well as students.

The program will consist of: Overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream, Op. 21 by Felix Mendelssohn, Johannes Brahms' Serenade in A Major, Op. 16, Concertino For Two Pianos, Op. 94, by Dmitri Shostakovich, Rhapsody Espagnole by Maurice Ravel and Reminiscences de Don Juan by Franz Liszt.

On November 16 Dr. Neal will deliver a lecture, "How To Be A Music Lover," at 3 p.m. in the Music Building. It will be open to students and the public.

Also that day, Dr. Neal will conduct a 4-hour piano teachers' workshop here.

Marching Band To Give Last Performance Sat.

This Saturday night the University marching band will give its last performance for this year at the football game.

At the half-time of the UTMB-Florence State pigskin encounter, it will present a show entitled "Junior Joins The Band."

War Protests Not Red Led

BY MORGAN BROOKFIELD

Protesting U.S. intervention in Vietnam by various college campus cliques is not influenced by Communists as copiously as the public presumes.

According to the news media the Communists are present at these demonstrations because they feel anywhere they can extend the feeling of distension in the U.S., their goal of world dominance becomes more easily perceived. Leaders of the demonstrations are definitely not Communists. Usually these leaders are young college students who sincerely and honestly protest U.S. action in Vietnam.

These rallies or protests or demonstrations are classified in three categories among campus crowds who thrive on instilling apoplexy among their conservative parents. These areas are all aimed at demoralizing or subverting United States Foreign policy in Vietnam. First the students are, hopefully, impressed by a well known name who will lure them into participation in national demonstrations. International protest against actions in Vietnam becomes a second method of bringing distention against U.S. policies. Most despicable are the individuals who encourage young men to shirk their duty to God and to their Country by burning their draft cards.

Many men fought and many men gave their lives during World War II to insure the freedom of the young people attending college today because these students are their children. Is the soldier of World War II (or any other war) being rewarded when he sees his grandchildren, children or possibly even his own brother afraid to face the responsibilities with which he was born?

The media has mentioned many times -- and is point out vigorously now -- that the protestors are an infinitesimal minority on campuses across the country.

Some student bodies have reached the saturation point. They are now protesting the protestors. This past weekend pacifistic pickets found themselves being picketed.

The second topic is a forceful but humorous cartoon on cleaning up the campus. The third cartoon is left up to the imagination of the cartoonist.

These cartoons should each be on a sheet of 8 X 11 white paper and must be drawn in ink.

416 Letters Sent To Students' Homes

A total of 416 letters containing mid-term grades for fall quarter were sent to students' parents, according to H.B. Smith, dean of students.

For the grades to be sent home, a student must have two or more F's in courses here.

This total compares to 262 letters sent to parents at mid-term for fall quarter of last year.

Comparing the number of two or more F's of freshmen, 20.3 per cent of the total freshmen enrollment of last fall quarter had letters sent home; 22.3 per cent this quarter.

A per cent of 10.4 of upperclassmen had two or more F's this quarter as compared to 7.8 per cent of the total number of upperclassmen last fall quarter.

Vols To Battle Florence Lions Here This Saturday

The Florence State Lions will invade College Field here Saturday night in an attempt to upset the high-flying Vols.

Florence has dominated the five-game series holding a 4-1 margin over the Vols. FSC has 17 lettermen returning to a squad that dumped the Orangemen 8-0 in 1964.

Last week the Lions dropped a 13-0 decision to Louisiana College leaving them 3-5 for the year. A soggy field, slippery ball, and the solid Louisiana College defense proved too much for the Lions. FSC had several scoring opportunities but were unable to tally.

Florence State head coach Henry Self points to the Lions' losing effort against Delta State as the teams finest effort of the season. The Statesmen trimmed FSC 16-7. DSC defeated UTMB 24-17. Against Troy State, the Lions had a field day romping over the "Wave" 35-16.

This is the Vols last home game and the Orangemen should be in top condition. Practices this week have been long but spirited and coach Robert Carroll said his team should be ready to go Saturday night.

Vols Roll Over Troy With 20-6 Score

After a sluggish start, the Vols rolled to a 20-6 triumph over Troy State College last Saturday for their fourth victory of the season.

The Orangemen regained the initiative as fullback Bobby Hayes climaxed a 69-yard march by blasting over from the four early in the second stanza. A 20-yard toss from Sandy Smith to tailback Howard Finley and a 10-yard sprint by Finley on the next play set up the tally. Jimmy Jones added the PAT as the Vols took the lead 7-6.

The Alabamians began the second half with a kickoff and drove to the Volunteer 20 yard line where senior tackle Jim Hammond smothered a Trojan fumble. Led by the pile-driving of Hayes, the Vols drove 71 yards for their second taste of paydirt.

Capitalizing again on Troy State miscues, Ray Geddings picked off a pass to set up Martin's third touchdown, midway through the fourth quarter. Geddings returned the interception to the TSC 20-yard line where, three plays later, Sandy Smith squirted around left end from the five. Jones added the point after.

Basketball Team Began Practice Early This Fall

BY FLOYD BURDETTE

Amid the falling leaves, football fever and an enrollment explosion, basketball practice quietly started at The University of Tennessee at Martin on October 15.

Five letter winners including three regulars, one junior and nine sophomores make up the best array of talent ever assembled at Martin.

Working the new players in with the experienced players presents a challenge that is being met at each practice with spirit and enthusiasm that has never been observed at U-T Martin.

One transfer, Ray Goehring 6'8", junior, and Mickey Martin, 6'7" sophomore, are staging a two man battle for the center position.

One senior, Moore Landers--6' 2", and Jerry Lacy--6' 2", along with four sophomores, Don Ray High--6' 1", and Bryon Kueh-ner--6' 0", Pat Taylor--5' 11", and Robert Barger--6' 1" add needed strength to front liners.

Except for Captain Armstrong this collection of aspirants have all enrolled at U-T Martin since moving in to the new fieldhouse. The size, muscle, ability, and enthusiasm of these young lads makes the coaching staff smile as never before.

Open Table Tennis Won By Bill Fron

Bill Fron, a senior in business administration from Wheaton, Illinois, is the winner of the men's open table tennis intramurals.

Danny Tuck, a junior in secondary education from Dresden, is the runner-up.

Taking third place was Byron Kuehner, a sophomore in secondary education from Herrin, Illinois.

College Master Policyholder OF THE WEEK
